Program Information:

The College of Charleston spring semester program in Trujillo, Spain offers students the opportunity to study abroad and earn 12-15 credit hours. Classes will be taught by both College of Charleston faculty and local Spanish faculty from the Universidad de Extremadura. Students will live with local Spanish families, who are carefully selected, to provide an enriching and cultural and social experience. The program includes several days of excursions to Andalusia (Córdoba, Granada, Sevilla) and Madrid.

Trujillo, Spain is located in the Extremadura region of Spain, southwest of Madrid, about 60 miles from the border of Portugal. A thriving center of tourism with a rich historical past, Trujillo is the place of origin of many conquistadors, including the Pizarros. Cáceres, a UN designated World Heritage City and the site of Universidad de Extremadura, lies less than an hour to the west of Trujillo. Classes are held in La Coria, a 17th century restored convent from Monday - Thursday, providing students three day weekends to explore Spain and/or Europe.

This program is designed for students who are Spanish majors or minors interested in taking 12 hours of upper level Spanish or students interested in developing fluency in Spanish. Students must have completed, or be in the process of completing, at least one 300 level Spanish course prior to participation. Students must have an overall GPA of 2.5.
